

TEACHING ENGLISH LANGUAGE IN THE MATH CONTENT AREA: MATH FOR EL SUCCESS

AUGUST 6, 2018

METRO ECSU

12:30-3:30 PM (12:00 PM CHECK IN)

Who Should Attend? Content or Grade-Level Teachers, ELL Specialists, Instructional Coaches, Curriculum Specialists, Para-Educators, Teaching Assistants who support English Language Learners in the mainstream.

In this half-day session, you will experience and create math lessons that maximize EL learning in both mathematics and English. The students targeted in the lesson are new to the country and have limited or interrupted educations.

Participants will be able to:

- Create a math lesson that promotes math understanding and language development

*“Take this on the road.....more teachers can benefit from your experience”
Past participant*

Presenter:

Jane Moren has teaching licenses in both ESL and mathematics.

She has been teaching EL Basic Math to newcomers including SLIFE (Students with Limited or Interrupted Formal Education) for 14 years. She has developed curriculum that focuses on a deeper understanding of math concepts, while students develop English reading, writing, and speaking. Jane has also co-taught high school math classes.
