

Cultural Competency

August 4, 2020

9:00am-12:00pm (Virtual)

This training will deepen educators' understanding of their own frames of reference, the potential bias in these frames, and their impact on expectations for and relationships with students, student's families, and the school communities.

In this workshop, participants will:

- Dig deeper into equipping and empowering themselves to interrupt systems that fail to be conducive to learning for all student groups.
- Learn how to address inequities and inequitable practices in their schools.

Who Should Attend?

Administrators, teachers, paraprofessionals, counselors, and all other interested educators

Perry Wilkinson partners with educators, district, and school leaders on the journey of equity-focused continuous improvement, providing coaching and training experiences that build personal and professional capacity to transform adult behaviors and mindsets so every student will thrive. After graduating with a degree in Teaching Secondary Mathematics, Perry taught math for 16 years in the twin cities area; he holds a master's degree in Teaching and Learning, an Urban Teaching Certificate, and a K-12 Administration license. Perry has served on the board of directors for the Minnesota Chapter of the National Association of Multicultural Education since 2012.
